

Sun 15/7/18

Contributed by Mike
Sunday, 12:40 15/07/18

Met summary from Hugh:

High pressure still with us (and looks like being in place for the next week). Airmass now very dry but unstable to 6,500ft where the capping inversion will produce small amounts of Cu. Thermal strengths very strong today and with light SW winds will produce very good soaring conditions during the afternoon (up to 5kt thermals).

Tasks have been set and the grid is being launched.